It is important for this forest area to be managed in a way that simulates nature and in a way that does not prioritize Timber harvest, but instead prioritizes the natural life flow of the forest. Old growth areas must be protected in large enough acreage to be meaningful for wildlife and the continued community of trees. No additional road construction should be allowed in order to facilitate this. Thinninh is a concept that has been put on the forest by us. The natural forest does its own thinning.
