Comments: We need more lands accessible for recreation on the GMUG to accommodate future demand. The number of visitors coming to the mountains is increasing by a large number. While Alternative C moves that direction, it fails to go far enough. Only Alt C comes close to the flexibility in needed on all types of issues- fires, floods, landslides, and recreation etc. Recent forest fires are going to become the norm and USFS now estimates that these areas could take hundreds of years to return to normal due to combined effect of drought, beetle and then fire. Given the rapid evolution of this issue, flexibility is the only answer in the RMP.
