Comments: There are, as I understand it, 784,326 acres in the Spring Mountains Complex. If so, you are allowing only one horse per 4,357 acres! Currently, there is one wild horse per 2,800 acres. How can this possibly be conceived as too many? There are only 281 horses left after years of roundups. Can't you let them be??? They have families, food and water. They have roamed the land for centuries doing nobody any harm. Leave them be, for God's sake. Our grandchildren's grandchildren won't be able to enjoy the thrill of watching these majestic animals in the wild because of your actions today. You are weakening the bloodlines and pushing them into extinction. Extinction is forever.
