Comments: For years I was strictly a hiker, climber, alpine tourer and looked down on those cheating by using motorized transportation in the backcountry. Skip ahead 30 years and I realize what a fool I was.

I now regularly ride my motorcycle and snowmobile to the areas I used to walk to, back when I could walk well.

I understand the need for peace, and silence, and when a dirt bike passes you by those things are stressed, for a moment. Then the offender is gone and on his or her way.

I would like to be able to keep riding these rides and bringing my friends and family along.

I support plan C with a few modifications.

Thank you.
