Comments: The Blue Lakes and Blaine Basin are one of the most pristine and beautiful places in the GMUG.

The delicate ecological systems need to remain substantially free of the effects of modern life. By maintaining this wonderful eco-system, we would also secure a key source of drinking water for the south end of Log Hill Mesa.

Only by maintaining the untrammeled characteristics of the area. We can do this by limiting the number of hikers and backpackers and by reducing the number of overnight campsites in Blue Lakes Basin through a permit system by numbering and designating campsites.

During my numerous hikes with my sons, we always have a much better experience when there are fewer people to contend with. I would be happy to wait for a permit to improve the experience for my family and others.
