Comments: Dead and dying trees should be left alone as they are part of the ecosystem that supports many birds and other animals. Unless the dead tree is leaning toward the trail. If it is, it still can be left up to a certain height that would be safe. We did this in our suburban yard. Just clear branches overhanging the trails.

Do not use loud chainsaws if possible.

Wilderness visitors should be allowed to experience nature on its own terms. There are always risks.

The Forest Service needs to exclude all Wilderness areas from this project, including any encroachment from activity on wilderness boundaries.
