Comments: I think it would be useful to read a definition of wilderness, so that as you proceed, you would use that as guidance.

Chain saws have no place in a wilderness, including noise and fumes, spilled fuel. What in the world did you do before small, 2-cycle engines were invented?! Use some muscle and cross cut saws, and only remove those fallen or truly hazardous trees. No need to supplement the Service with commercial contracts or machines.

If we don't/you don't fully preserve true wilderness, it will all soon be gone. The people of this country can not afford to lose more.
