Comments: Living trees are not "dangerous". Brush and dead debris is, but we cannot cut down living trees and have a prayer to lessen the devastating impacts of global warming. I have hiked the mountains of California and it was great. Returning and seeing your murder of trees--stumps--is almost more than can be taken by a thinking, feeling person. Why is the solution to most problems killing trees? They are the ONLY beings that can save us from our stupidity. Stop your war on OUR trees!!
