Comments: You've already received all the available science ... for YEARS! It baffles me no end that we still have to fight to save our boreal forests, rainforests, hardwood forests, redwood forests, etc. What is it that you are having difficulty understanding about the roles forests play in combatting climate change, sucking up CO₂, providing critical habitat, etc? Do try to remember, you work for us, the people- not corporations whose vested interest is destroying the natural world for their short term profits.
