Comments: I dont understand the reasoning for closing down existing roads around Yellow Pine or anywhere in the state of Idaho. With more and more advanced GPS's people are venturing out farther and seeing the beautiful state. There is so much area up there I still want to explore. I have a 3 year old son that I'm looking forward to showing him many places like the Yellow Pine area. What if by the time he is old enough to enjoy it, it's all shut down. I honestly don't see the reasoning for decisions like this. All the years of early, uncontrolled mining didn't destroy the land but using existing roads is an issue? Please think about our future and leave all land that is currently open that way. We already have plenty of shut down land, private land, closed roads. Thank you for you time.
