Comments: While removing hazardous trees from parks and campgrounds is a justified activity to provide safe passage for humans, such action is not warranted or even legal in designated Wilderness. From saws to trucks and helicopters, machinery should be banned under all circumstances from Wilderness. Wilderness demonstrates how nature repairs itself and evolves in its own pattern and on its own schedule. Each situation is a unique demonstration which should be allowed to develop and display its peculiar renewal. Do not interrupt the self-renewal of Wilderness with human tampering. Keep our Wilderness WILD!
