Comments: Please do not include wilderness areas in this work. The point of wilderness areas is that they're wild; dead trees should be left to do whatever dead trees do in wilderness. While they might pose some risk to people entering the area, that's also inherent to wilderness; we cannot and should not be endeavoring to make wilderness safe.

Under no circumstances should chainsaws be used in or around wilderness areas; the noise creates a serious disturbance for both people and wildlife. Wildlife necessarily relies on undisturbed wilderness to be in a truly wild and natural state.
