Please don't use chainsaws to clear trails in Wilderness. Tree decay is part of forest ecosystem health. The Forest Service could use crosscut saws, not chainsaws, to clear trails of only the fallen trees that must be removed thereby increasing employee hours, while reducing noise and other pollution. Wilderness visitors expect to experience nature on its own terms, including any risks that entails. The Forest Service could actually exclude all Wilderness areas from this project, including any encroachment from activity on wilderness boundaries.
