As an avid outdoorsman and father to two growing boys that love the outdoors as much as I do, whether it's hunting, fishing, hiking skiing or snowmobiling, it's important that our ability to use the mountains in the way that we've always used them.

I am opposed to any change in the regulations and truly believe that over snow travel as long as there is adequate snow cover does absolutely no damage to the woods. It also does no damage nor does it affect wildlife as wildlife heads for the low country during the winter and are not in the areas of snowmobiling or other winter activities.

I appreciate your time and I hope you would truly consider the impacts that making changes would cause to all involved.

Thank you and have a great day!
