Comments: I'm writing in regards to GMUG's draft forest plan. I use the Grand Mesa Uncompahgre Gunnison national forests for hiking and camping, and appreciate having wild spaces to enjoy and recreate safely and responsibly. I'd like to see GMUG's plan primarily support wildlife, habitats and watersheds, and sustainable recreation. In the current draft, Alternative D provides the most acreage for conservation and human-powered recreation on the Forest. However, the lack of recommended Wilderness (only 34,000 acres) is disappointing and should be increased. Finally, I think the amount of so-called "suitable timber" across all alternatives is far too much and does not consider what is actually practical or economical. It should be reduced.
