Comments: Hi,

I have been an active user of the GMUG and surrounding region for over 10 years. I believe that alternative C represents the best compromise for all user groups of the 4 presented options. With both the rapidly growing visitation and population of the Western Slope, restricting access and new trail construction with wilderness area expansion or wildlife management areas (alternatives B and D) does not seem feasible. It is important that the GMUG focuses on increased access and construction of both motorized and mechanized trails, which does not seem to be a priority under the other alternatives. New trail construction will continue to become more important as the area's population continues to grow.
