Comments: I would like to see year-round protections for the Boreal Toad habitat. Also, there need to be more extended protections for native trout species.

In addition, I think the GMUG is sadly lacking in good quality wilderness areas. To that end, I suggest these areas as outlined by several wilderness groups:

*Muddy Country Watershed and Wildlife Conservation Area (61,200 acres);

*Pilot Knob Backcountry Wildlife Conservation Area (24,100 acres);

*Hubbard Park Recommended Wilderness (5,238 acres);

*Lamborn Special Interest Area (14,100 acres); and

*Coal Mountain Recommended Wilderness (15,200 acres).

These areas have high value wildlife habitat, water resources, and wilderness quality. Please add them to the final revised forest plan.
