Comments: I am concerned that the USFS is still favoring industry, ignoring public comments, and seems to be moving ahead with this project, bending rules, and depleting riparian habitats in a time of climate crisis of which cattle are part of the problem. When 95% of the public comments are ignored, a corporation (FIM) has more importance than the health of the habitat, it destroys the faith the public has in our government and all its branches. This plan should be acknowledged as flawed and abandoned.
