I am deeply concerned for a future for my children, indigenous children (and their rights!) and the children of the world. Climate Emergency is now. We cannot afford to fell forests and continue to fragment natural areas. "There is emerging evidence that the remaining intact forest supports an exceptional confluence of globally significant environmental values relative to degraded forests, including imperiled biodiversity, carbon sequestration and storage, water provision, indigenous culture and the maintenance of human health" (Nature Ecology and Evolution). If approved, how will future generations look back on this decision to destroy 500 acres of public land, beautiful old growth forest, and yet be grateful for improved skier circulation? A select privileged few may benefit in the very short term, and that over the needs of the public for clean water, air, soil and a livable climate. Please act in the interest of children and those yet unborn. Scientists concur that we must act now to save humanity.
