Comments: Lutsen Ski resort has a limited vertical drop. Last season I had a season pass and found myself consistently getting bored after at most 60 -90 minutes of skiing. No amount of horizontal expansion can compensate for the fact that Lutsen will never come close to being a first rate ski resort precisely because the runs are so short (with the exception of some beginner level runs.)

Speaking as an experienced skier, I find it truly outrageous and painful that a large area of pristine wilderness could be destroyed for a project which can never change Lutsen's status as a second rate downhill ski resort. It would be tragic in the extreme.
