Comments: Part of the land in question was set aside for scientific study and the other parcel for the use of three local native bands in perpetuity. To transfer these lands to corporate interests of Lutsen Mountains is a betrayal of Mr Scherer and of the local bands. These are precious resources part of an international watershed and on a major migratory route. The land in question should remain as is to serve its intended purposes for scientific study, for the use of the Native peoples and for the common good of all.
