Comments: My husband and I have driven the jeep trails through California forests for the last ten years. We have noticed how quickly and how abundantly the trees reproduce. California's forest are in desperate need of being thinned out. I'm hoping timber harvest is allowed to happen. Watching California's forests burn every year is devastating to me. I don't understand why CalFire doesn't use their airforce more often. I can't understand why they use bull dozers. Bull dozers can't stop a forest fire. I found it to be very interesting that the fire was allowed to devastate Lake Almanor and the Susanville area for months, but when it got too close to Lake Tahoe, CalFire finally stopped a fire.
