Comments: Alternative 1 seems to me to be the best. This seems to be pretty ambitious, but desperate times call for desperate measures. Hopefully there will be enough resources for sufficient oversight by Forest Service.

Restoration of the NRV and protection of the forest; ie the spotted owl are critical to maintaining this wonderful resource. Habitat protection protects not just the spotted owls, but all the denizens of that forest.

And, if you asked me, I'd reduce the diameter of the trees not to be harvested to 18 or 20 inches. Our summer home tract Cow Creek has seen many mature cut just recently, sad.

Thanks, and good luck.
