Comments: I am a Snowmass Village resident, general outdoor enthusiast, and conservationist. I support the Redstone-McClure Pass trail, particularly as a section of the larger Carbondale-Crested Butte. connection. The opposition predicated on protecting wildlife corridors and natural riparian habitat is unfounded. This corridor already has a highway, electric infrastructure, an old rail bed, and numerous homes/driveways that represent a far greater disturbance to nature than a soft surface trail. The trail is an ecologically responsible mechanism to allow recreational access to a beautiful area currently serviced primarily by automobile.
