Comments: I understand many people choose to live in this area for seclusion and privacy but I believe the opponents to this project are choosing the wrong hill to die on. This seems from a safety and access stand point to be a great addition to the crystal valley. The White River National Forest has a great track record with providing and preserving access to public lands while at the same time mitigating environmental impact. The plan seems sound and prudent to me and is the way I want my tax dollars to be spent.
