Comments: I have been a resident of the pristine Crystal River Valley for 30+ years. I am not against human activity in the Wilderness spaces we all love. I have hiked, biked, x skied them all in abundance.

Have attended Many meetings through the decades to participate in discussion. The following words should be considered and remembered because it pertains to this Place:

(Theodore Roosevelt, Grand Canyon Speech, May 6, 1903)

"Leave it as it is." A straightforward plea, but one that was intended to caution a society that had been zealous in its need for industrialization and Westward expansion throughout the nineteenth and twentieth century at the expense of dwindling natural resources.

For the Ages.

Also,

Honor and Remember the women Joy Caudill, Connie Harvey and Dottie Fox.

Note: I work at the Redstone Inn and this organization has not made a position about this trail.

Thankyou for taking my comments,

Nancy Chromy
