Comments: Hello- I am writing to voice my immense support for the Redstone/McClure pass trail. I own Revel Bikes, a high end mountain bike manufacturer based in Carbondale, CO. I started this business 6 years ago and moved the HQ to Carbondale in 2017 because I wanted my business and brand to live the lifestyle that we sell. We now have 27 full time employees and we offer competitive salaries, healthcare, and a generous benefits package, including flexible hours to ride mountain bikes around the trails we love herein the Roaring Fork and Crystal River valleys. We are fully in favor of more responsible trail development- as mountain biking grows in our community, ore trails are the best option to help riders spread out and have less impact on our environment. The Redstone area has tons of new mountain bike trails in the works or recently developed, and more longer distance trails are just the thing we need to truly appreciate the beauty and terrain in this part of Colorado. We are happy to volunteer our company's time for trail building and maintenance. Thank you for working to create more healthy recreational opportunities here!
