Comments: I'm generally for reducing fuels around any Mtn town. I live in the inter-Mtn area of west Vail, south of I70. Years back I watched the plan to reduce fuels above our neighborhood get stymied time and again by short-sighted environmentalist lawyers. The project was delayed years. It finally happened, though I think the extent of the original plan was severely reduced. Now several years later it is beautiful and we're all safer. Let's learn from CA towns literally burned to the ground over the last decade by forest fires. Reduce accumulated fuels in the hills around all Mtn towns. Listen to people who actually live in those neighborhoods and not lawyers have no personal stake in whether neighborhoods are made safer.
