Comments: I am writing to oppose expanded use of the Bitterroot National Forest, especially the 13 new permits being considered. And I strongly encourage you to re-evaluate these permits and uses with respect to protecting watersheds and wildlife. I am especially opposed to allowing lion hunting. Like wolves, lion killing has been accelerating since the governor himself sees fit to destroy collared, monitored, non-problem wolf and lion. This action is despicable enough, and should warrant careful attention to further protect these important animals in their ecosystem. I am also opposed to expanded motorized vehicle use. The forest is not our playground. It is habitat and important to respect it and keep it in as natural a state as possible, with the threat of climate change and habitat loss from human activity growing larger. Thank you.
