Comments: i have lived in crested butte for 20 years and have seen many changes to the recreation use and growth in that time. as the valley gets busier and more crowded, many trails are experiencing overcrowding and user conflicts. we have also created many new trails, which have become a great asset to the community, such as the lupine trail and baxter gulch trail.

i support the CBMBA positions on all of the points they raise for comment on the 'north valley trails project.'

i believe moving more non-motorized recreators off of roads and motorized trails will improve the health and safety of our recreating and our environment.
