Comments: Mr. Williams, thank you for taking my comments as it pertains to the Federal land exchange. As I partial owner of a unit in the Jane Creek townhomes since 2007 and Winter park skier since the 1970's I have watched the little ski town of Winter Park grow. The once charming town has exploded with developments and building the last few years. Although some would say this was inevitable, it is concerning that the Forest Service would also be a part of this Californian style implosion. Isn't there enough building? Why do YOU have to be apart of this madness. I have great respect for the Forest Service but have to believe someone must be getting their palms greased. Please stop this insanity and stick to managing the natural forest not destroying it. Thank you
