Comments: It would be great to have more easily accessible cabins in Petersburg. One on the island that doesn't require a hike would be great. Those of us with small children, cannot access Raven's Roost while hiking with small children on our backs, and carry our gear. It would be great to have a cabin like they have in Wrangell that is drivable, or a small flat walk. Also closer to town options for safe boat travel, such as another cabin up Petersburg creek that can be accessed by the trail or by boat. It's closer to town and easier to access. Another option would be great on the south end of the island. There is better weather, and easier access to do other recreational activities too. A cabin over on Tonka would be amazing like the one that is on Zarembo.
