Comments: The Lake Tarlton forest area is a forest that has been originally deemed in need of protection. Why would people now decide that is no longer in need of protection and start to destroy it?
The propposed logging is also illegal. They must propose alternative plans to log national forest, but they have offered to resonable alternatives.

Its scenic value would be signifigantly degraded by this logging project. This is a terrible thing that must be avoided.
This forest is absolutly a signifigant contributer to the enviroment. the forest IS the enviroment. The wide spread disruption and outright removal of trees will invariably have negative imapacts on the people, animal life, and plant life in the area. This finding of no signififigant impact is absolutly flawed and must be reevaluated
This site must be preserved. The proposed plan of action has been created with outdated facts, and misguided direction. The people that hold this land sacred will not stand for this destruction.
Every AT hut I have walked into has featured a before and after picture of NH previos logging, when they cut the entire state down. We must not let that happen again. This is a brazen attempt to create profit where there was once protected land. It must be stopped
