Comments: I am deeply disturbed and saddened at the prospect of this project moving forward. Without question, the formative summers of my youth were spent in the white mountains; in particular, along the shores of Lake Tarleton at Kingswood Camp. The forest around the lake and indeed the forests in Mt. Moosilauke's shadow provide so much more than just aesthetic beauty. The human ability to appreciate, take part in, and protect our natural resources could not be more essential at this time. Thousands of New Hampshireites and indeed thousands of Americans utilize these forests and Lake Tarleton. I am a better person today because of my time in New Hampshire and at Kingswood Camp. To throw away the experiences of so many to line the pockets of so few would truly be monumental tragedy. I implore any and all decision makers in this process to please reconsider and to please remember the importance of ensuring that there will always be natural places for our children and our children's children to enjoy.
