Comments: no way can any expansion at the ski valley be considered an improvement.though the wealthy think different.there should be no way a private entity can profit from a forest and wilderness area that was meant for the public.and talking about historic, the taos pueblo i believe , would never agree to any of that.i would like for the forest service to consult with them so they could provide history prior to Columbus and infiltration of tourist culture.taos has been a tri-cultural area for many years where sharing and kindness was a priority for survival.i don't see any billionaires building affordable housing or health centers in taos for the people who work for them and can only afford to live in their cars.look what happened to jackson hole.
