Comments: I am against the Forest Service's widespread sale of forest timber because it is not being done in the public interest, and will adversely effect the Eel River water supply, animal and bird habitats, and the ability of the forest to sequester CO2 emissions.

Cutting down public forests must be done judiciously, and solely to prevent uncontrollable fires, and for no other reason. Never solely for profit. Otherwise, this is contrary to the public interest and must be stopped, NOW.

Public lands and public WATER are California's, and the nation's, greatest resources. We must protect these precious resources for Californians now--and for our children and grandchildren.
