Comments: I have been visiting Lake Tarleton several times each summer for many years. I spend a week each summer with my grown children and my four granddaughters. We swim, boat, and hike all day everyday and I am teaching my grandchildren to love the outdoors and the beauty of nature in the same way my parents and grandparents taught me. This week in New Hampshire has become a beloved tradition in our family. I cannot imagine why the WMNF would ever consider letting any commercial endeavor touch this pristine woodlands. My faith in the National Forest and Park system will be destroyed if this is permitted. I dread arriving at the lake one summer and finding my favorite idyllic refuge damaged for such an absurd project.
