Comments: For the love of God and the children of future generations leave the fossil fuels in the ground, we do not need for to continue to accelerate the defrosting of the permafrost methane swamps inform the public to end carbon intensive practices, methane is 40xs worse than tailpipe emission, more companies need to reduce carbon emissions and take up carbon capture, reduce and then eliminate new plastic use (90% of plastic has not been recycled, clean up the Pacific garbage patch and recycle it.) forget EVs until a carbon neutral cradle to grave recycle process is complete for all EV materials, people need to reduce, recycle & amp; reuse, bike, walk, plant trees, conserve, get OPEC, G20, U.S., & amp; China to quintuple down on green hydrogen, COVID came from Wuhan, environmental protection laws exist for such things via strict liability like offshore oil drilling, nuclear power, CHINA OWES. RAIL, RAIL, RAIL. Trains can do so much more with less, to distribution hubs and vehicles can do final destination, build out major corridors for Rail, Water & amp; Power all at once, as for combustion, Green Hydrogen is the way forward, when it comes to combustion. The bankers have manipulated so much over the years, these days many people are not savvy enough to know that they have SO more access to money than brains...too many things are uncorked before they are ready from Clinton and the deregulation of banks that led to irresponsible leveraging, to consumer spending on trends and disposable garbage from cell phones, globalization, dot.com, to EVs, these trends have been more activity than accomplishment (Wooden) and people are leveraging their future to jump on bandwagons and the fees you roost form them is just more insult to injury...pimping the poor, like check cashing places, from post 9/11, 0% financing for SUVs when we should have been getting off fossil fuels to the 2008 bubble and bail out and so much more for the last decade and more remarkably of late. I hope the bankers are ready for their comeuppance, too big to fail, that was stupid, more money than brains...and are not chiseling people for more fees, work on educating the public so that consumers make prudent long term decision instead of trillions in student debt and thousand dollar cell phones and gimmicks and trends that do not help them in the long term...we have a crisis of immaturity and impulsivity and the free dealing of cheap money is fueling stupid spending. Essentially the Death penalty and abortion are effectively the same thing...the taking of a life...Be the leader who brings this to the public to get their head around...so many are perplexed in their reasoning and divided on both issues while contradicting themselves.in fact the reasoning in both should be the preservation of life, leave the animals alone, we are supposed to protect those who cannot protect themselves, stop hunting tourism. Save the foxes and the water and air, people cannot seem to help themselves with overspending, pop culture, social media, many of the influencers are terrible, below is a link to a fox by the White House, divine providence ? Even Harris Ranch in CA has come to grips with the future and sold their beef business, the time has come and past, get on the ball! DO YOU UNDERSTAND ? https://www.sfgate.com/news/article/Fox-caught-on-U-S-Capitol-grounds-euthanized-for-17062112.php Thank you
