Comments: It would be an absolute travesty if this logging project along Lake Tarleton was allowed to proceed. Not just for me personally, who has enjoyed that breathtaking view of Mt. Moosilauke overlooking Tarleton every summer since I can quite literally mentally remember. I've now moved here from South Carolina and the beauty of that lake and its surroundings plays a large part in that. Regardless of my own personal feelings, it would most definitely establish a dangerous precedent. The fact that the government is willing to break its word to all the locals that fought and scraped to save that land all those years ago and are now thinking of collecting an ill deserved paycheck is quite literally what wrong with this country, especially for a state, and a region and culture that prides itself on transparency, honesty, and fairness...it's physically sickening. The only solution is to deem it a "scenic area" in the WMNF so generations more can enjoy the quiet, serene, New Hampshire beauty that only so many place can offer.
