Comments: I am opposed to the post-fire timber harvest of forests in Zone 1. These harvests would create more roads, increase of erosion into the watersheds and destroy live trees, native plants and wildlife habitat in an area where endangered species like the spotted owl and the Humboldt Martin live. I have seen how these types of post-fire timber plans occur with little oversight of timber company actions resulting in harvesting of healthy live trees. I lived next to forests affected by fire and harvested often in a clear cut method, which was devastating to the habitat, topsoil, forests and wildlife.
