Comments: Thank you for these proposals. They are a long time coming. I agree with them all but would suggest going further. Not sure how it would happen but Blue Lakes/Blaine Basin has become a nightmare of too many people. So rehab of spur trails, limiting parking, a required permit system are musts. Haven't climbed Mt. Sneffels in years but even back then, too many people creating hazards such as rock fall for those below, therefore a limiting permit system there too. I am sure staffing patrols in these areas would be cost prohibitive but even an honorary permit system may help limit daily use.
