

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 5/9/2022 3:01:38 PM

First name: Robert

Last name: Wipfler

Organization:

Title:

Comments: After a heavy rain, one can hear an audible roar of water cascading downward from the hills surrounding Lake Tarleton. It is an awesome sound and one especially celebrates nature doing its thing in the complete absence of human intervention. Were the WMNF to go ahead and harvest 900 acres of this land for the forest products they could sell, this glorious concert of sound would be severely adulterated. Please do more thinking on this subject before recklessly jumping into it.