Comments: Lake Tarleton is one of my best childhood memories. I attended Kingswood camp for 8 years as a child and the environment of Lake Tarleton was and invaluable environment to experience as a child. I learned a lot about hiking, stewardship, and survival in those woods and would not trade it for the world. Robbing future generations of the unmolested environment around Lake Tarleton is a terrible sin upon humanity, and it should not be done for financial gains. This environment would be a terrible loss for New Hampshire and those who come to New Hampshire to experience its glory.
