Comments: Back in the 1960's, when I was listening to Joni Mitchell records, I never thought I would one day be writing to people who are planning to literally "pave Paradise and put up a parking lot." But here we are.

Actually, I kind of like the idea of better bus disgorgement with easier access to the Trail of Time. I have a mixed view of trail enhancements. But what I really don't like is the idea of boats on the lake, since I am concerned about possible impacts to the river and the Channel in the event of an accident.

Do we really need to go chasing the glacier as it retreats up the river? Does every cruise ship tourist visiting Juneau need to eschew a visit to the State Capitol or the State Museum in favour of spending an hour on a bus to visit an overcrowded theme park?

My first preference is for Alternative 4, and my second is Alternative 1.

Thank you for allowing me to express my views.
