Comments: National forests require specific localized-site specific analysis even in the wake and especially in the wake of wildfires. One broad sweeping assessment does not adequately review watershed and sun-watershed particular environmental needs. Assessment should be done locally project by project. How will I be scoped you, how will I be asked to make comments on my local National Forest if this is allowed? A blanket large scale assessment is vague and broad and does not meet the needs in the ground. The answer is NO.
