Comments: I support good management practices of our natural resources including our forests. I believe once man stepped in "to make our environment more livable" that superseded nature's management of the environment. As fire was once nature's way of removing diseased and overgrown forests that the community does not choose for a variety of just reasons, we now must find and support better options to accomplish what massive fires once did. A reasoned approach would preserve our forests, the beauty of the valley and our homes.
