Comments: I would like to comment in favor of the forest service fuel reduction plan. It is a sound plan that addresses preventing devastating fires that result from too much accumulated fuel left in the forest. The property and habitat loss from such horrendous fires can be seen all over the west where whole towns have gone up in flames due to lack of a sound fuel reduction attempt. We should learn from such tragedy and not succumb to magical thinking that by doing nothing the problem will just go away. I hope that a public outcry of INFORMED residents will allow the fuel reduction plan to go ahead and be implemented. Sincerely Shimi McKenzie Hamilton, MT
