Comments: The fire of 2000 destroyed homes and the forest surrounding Laird Creek, south of Conner. My father bought the home and property because of the beauty and serenity he found there. Twenty years after this fire, the landscape still shows the scars of this fire. Last summer the devastating fire between Wisdom and Lost trails took out areas that I and others looked to for hunting and hiking. For years the beetles killed thousands of trees leaving the area ripe for a massive fire. We knew it was just a matter of time. Both fires and many others may have been prevented or minimized if we had had a comprehensive forest management program, like the current proposal. I whole heartedly support this program..
