Comments: My concerns are always toward the benefit of the wildlife that use these forests as habitats. I would like to see our governing bodies use simple ideas such as goats to clean and maintain the forest floors. Or perhaps listen to native Americans that have built controlled fires since before white people ever set foot here. There are tribes that actually can do this and much better than our "trained" employees. Check that out. We need to keep our forests intact now more than ever. We have all but decimated and fragmented our habitats with our greed. It needs to stop. Goats and Native Americans.
