The proposed cleanup of the area for fish and wildlife preservation is a good idea. Culverts can be recycled for use by The City of Angoon to local protect highways and wetlands with new construction by homeowners. Flying over Admiralty Island between Juneau and Angoon, it appears to me that many trees do not look healthy, maybe due to lack of rainfall. Local subsistence fishers and hunters use the shoreline all the way to Cube Cove and south and west along island shorelines adjacent to Admiralty Is. It would be appropriate for USFS to announce cleanup and hire or offer local residents right of first refusal for employment through Kootznoowoo Incorporated, Angoon Community Association IRA Organization, and the City of Angoon. These entities should be involved from beginning and not in a reactionary involvement, which is always too late and detrimental to Angoon, whose indigenous residents have used the coastal areas for more than 40,000 years according to oral history.
